Legal Arts Meet Creative Arts!

For Immediate Release

Executive Reporting Service, Florida's West Coast award-winning court reporting service, is celebrating. Why? This successful, rapidly growing firm continually raises the bar with innovative, trendsetting ideas.

This month ERS unveiled a new office/gallery concept where Legal Arts meets Creative Arts. The walls of this prominent firm are brimming with a myriad of original artwork furnished by Bay Area emerging artists and art centers such as The SunTan Art Center.

Why is this trendsetting? Dan Pink, author of the best selling book, A Whole New Mind, asserts we are entering a new era where creativity rules and the corporate landscape is no longer just for profit or nonprofit but also for profit while supporting socially conscious initiatives. Complementing Legal Arts with Creative Arts provides attorneys and clients inspiring conference suites with ambiance. The office is not only inspiring but offers an opportunity to support artists and charitable causes by donating all commissions. Charities have included CASA, Helfer International, The Hunger Project, Jules Burt's High Heel Hike, Youth at Risk Mentoring program and other charitable initiatives.

Executive Reporting Service has two more benchmarks to celebrate. The first benchmark- ERS is the recipient of the Prestigious 2006 Outstanding Business of the Year Award in the woman-owned and operated category by The St. Petersburg Chamber of Commerce, The Maddux Report, WorkNet Pinellas and St. Petersburg Times.

The second benchmark is their 25th anniversary. ERS has been serving Florida's West Coast since 1981 when founder, Diane T. Emery, CMRS, opened with one office. ERS now has seven locations to serve clients in a five county area. This expansive growth is the result of her commitment to being a leader in state-of-the-art technologies such as paperless transcripts and global videoconferencing.

The ERS Office with Gallery deposition suites is located at the Ulmerton Business Center, 13555 Automobile Blvd. (46th St.) Suite 100, Clearwater, Florida 33762.
